MARTIN E. MARTY

Distinguished writer, teacher, and mentor of his colleagues, who exemplifies the maintenance of the highest standards of professional integrity and scholarship in the field of religion.

You are recognized as America's most distinguished historian of religious history, and your contributions to religious thought are everywhere apparent.

Your writings are a source of great knowledge and offer continual renewal and renaissance for students and practitioners alike.

Your independent scholarly treatment of religion continues to make important contributions to religious studies. Your teachings in Christian Thought permeate much of the current view of contemporary Christianity.

You are, indeed, one of the great religious thinkers of modern times. Your profound insights into the relationship of religion and life have helped to make Christianity more responsive to modern conditions.

Wise and inspiring teacher, seminal scholar of modern religious thought, dedicated and inspiring leader of contemporary Christianity, Governors State University is privileged to award you the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters and include you into our growing University family.
